

CONGRESS IN LONG DEBATE ON FOOD BILL

Senator Kenyon Predicts If Conditions Continue Bread Riots Will Follow

GORE IS MOST BITTER OPPONENT OF MEASURE

Friends of Lever Act Predict Its Passage by July 1 at Least

Washington, June 21.—Administration leaders in congress said today public sentiment was beginning to make itself felt among opponents of the food control bill, and predicted enactment of the measure within two or three weeks.

Debate continued in both branches with the house again sitting until late at night to close the general debate with a view to proceeding under the five-minute speech rule tomorrow, and taking a final vote by Saturday. The amending stage probably will be reached in the senate next week after the measure, as it passes the house, is substituted for the senate draft.

May Pass by July 1.—Despite continued opposition and the certainty of some amendments, ultimate enactment of the legislation in some form, is conceded. Senator Chamberlain said last night it was possible that the bill would be finally enacted by July 1, as desired by the president, but few shared his optimism, the general opinion expressed being for two more weeks at least of senate debate.

Senator Kenyon, republican, occupied most of the day in the senate in support of the bill. He emphasized the necessity for broad government control of foodstuffs as a war measure, defended the bill's constitutionality and flayed speculators, whom he characterized as "allies of the kaiser."

"IF THIS THING IS GOING ON—THE CORNERING OF FOOD AND FUEL," HE SAID, "WE ARE GOING TO HAVE HUNGER AND BREAD RIOTS IN THIS COUNTRY, OR SOMETHING WORSE."

Three Oppose Bill. Senators Gore, Reed and Vandaman, democrats, continued as the principal critics of the bill. They were joined by Senator Borah, republican, who questioned the measure's constitutionality and said it was "full of glittering generalities," which would "bewilder the business world and paralyze initiative of the country." He advocated, however, regulation of speculation and governmental purchasing of food supplies.

Senator Gore insisted that the bill would force farmers' prices down, cause famine next year from under production, and loss this year of $750,000,000 to wheat and corn producers.

In the house Representative Meeker of Missouri, republican, assailed the bill and questioned the ability of Mr. Hoover, the food administrator, while Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin, republican, opposed the broad powers the measure would confer upon the executive.

Among many amendments proposed was one by Mr. Lenroot, limiting its operation to the war period instead of one year after the war. Representative Lever, agreed to such an amendment. Senator Kenyon proposed senate amendments which would remove all responsibility of seizure of food in the hands of agricultural producers or the institution of rationing or the limitation of individual meals.

Kahn Defends Hoover. Senate opponents of the bill are conferring informally toward agreement upon amendments which they contend are necessary to prevent interference with legitimate business.

Criticism of Mr. Hoover drew a speech in his defense from Representative Kahn of California, republican, who paid a tribute to his work in Belgium.

During the senate debate Senator Kenyon said that, under the bill, he believed the president could take over factories, such as packing houses. Senator Brandegee suggested that to make such commandeering efficient commandeering of workmen in such factories also should be provided for.

"If we can conscript men's lives," replied Senator Kenyon, "surely we can conscript men to feed those men."

Proposes Wheat Requisition. Senator King suggested that since there will not be enough wheat to fill requirements of the allies and demands of home consumption except through rigid economy, the United States government could requisition all the wheat, apportion a part to the allies, and sell the rest to the people of this country at cost.

As to whether they will go as officers of the line or staff no information is available.

Wholesale Grocers Complain of Rapid Decrease in Number of Retail Grocers

DECLARE MAIL ORDER HOUSE THREATENS RUIN

Chicago, June 21.—Unfair competition, according to a committee report to the "Liberty convention" of the National Wholesale Grocers' association, is driving small retailers from business in increasing numbers.

The alleged unfairness consists, according to the report, in manufacturers selling large consignments direct to chain stores, mail order houses, and department stores at prices normally charged the wholesaler, and at which the manufacturer cannot profitably sell the individual small dealer.

The report marking there are 523,393 retail merchants, including 318,631 groceries, in the United States, asserts:

"The tendency to eliminate the small man is therefore toward monopoly and under present conditions this tendency will soon become an accelerated movement which will sweep thousands of American retailers to eventual ruin."

The report states that hitherto the government has acted only after strong monopolies have been established and says:

"It now remains to be seen whether the government will permit a greater monopoly than any that has preceded it to take control of the first necessities of life."

AMERICA'S ENTRY INTO CONFLICT HIT GERMANY

Jules Cambon, Cabinet Attache, Declares United States Brings Freshness and Ardor

Paris, June 21.—Jules Cambon, general secretary of the ministry of foreign affairs, declared that the entrance of America into the war had caused serious unrest in Germany, in an interview with a correspondent of the Associated Press today. He said:

"A feeling of serious unrest was caused in Germany by the entry into the struggle of a country which brings to the Allies, together with its entire strength, a freshness and ardor which have not been diminished by three years of war. Germany feels that the Americans, once engaged in the struggle, will not give up. It is to prevent this cementing of close ties that it is multiplying its efforts to spread dissension among the Allies."

"The incidents of the Swiss socialist's grim intrigue in Russia reveals Germany's handwork and is one of the straws showing how uneasy and troubled Berlin is because of America. In France, everyone realizes that this uneasiness and fear is justified."

REGIMENT OF WOMEN FIGHT FOR RUSSIA

Petrograd, June 21.—The "command of death," which is the official title of the women's regiment raised by the twice wounded girl officer, Vera Butchkaroff, will be reviewed today by the minister of war. The regiment will leave in a fortnight for the front.

The Associated Press' correspondent who visited the barracks found posted at the gate a little blue-eyed sentry in a soldier's khaki blouse, short breeches, green forage cap, woman's ordinary black stockings, and neat shoes. The sentry was Marya Skryloff, daughter of Admiral Skryloff, former commander of the Baltic fleet and minister of marine. In the courtyard 300 girls of good physique, and many of them pretty, were drilling under the direction of a male sergeant and marching to an exaggerated goose step.

Commander Lieutenant Lutchkaroff explained that most of the recruits were from the higher educational academies or secondary schools with a few peasants, factory girls and farmers. The girl said: "We apply the rigid system of the free revolutionary army, rejecting the new principle of soldier self-government."

VICK DEMANDS NAME BE TAKEN FROM BALLOTS

Republican Nominee Wires Withdrawal—Hall Declines to Take Any Action

COMMITTEE NAMED TO APPLY FOR MANDAMUS

With the nomination of Olger D. Burness of Grand Forks as the republican candidate for congress by the convention held in Grand Forks yesterday, and a formal demand from Judge Vick of Pembina this morning that his name be removed from the official ballot in the first district, the stage is set for an interesting legal battle, the outcome of which, as much as the ballots of the people, will determine the successor to the late Henry T. Helgesen as representative from the first district.

The nomination of Burness, who already is on the ballot through individual nomination, was made unanimously at Grand Forks yesterday. Before a ballot was taken all of the republican candidates who had been nominated by petition—Burness, Vick, Cuthbert and Plain—agreed to withdraw in favor of the convention choice. The first formal notice of desire to withdraw came from Vick this morning, and messages from Cuthbert and Plain were expected later in the day.

Secretary of State Hall, prior to his departure for St. Anthony at noon today, declared his stand as already stated will not be changed. He holds the ballots cannot be altered, and that none of the names now appearing thereon can be removed.

Anticipating this attitude upon the part of the secretary of state, the republicans, in convention at Grand Forks yesterday, prepared to immediately begin proceedings by mandamus to compel Hall to omit from the official ballot the names of Plain, Vick and Cuthbert, leaving the republican field to the convention choice.

Judge Burleigh F. Spaulding and Attorney Fowler of Fargo, Wineman of Grand Forks and Cuthbert of Devils Lake were named a legal committee to prosecute the case, and it is anticipated that immediate action will follow the secretary of state's formal refusal to comply with the demands made upon him.

League Scheme. The league is believed to be back of the effort which is being made to retain a large field of candidates. With the republican vote split four ways, and possibly five, as H. H. Aaker is running as a "progressive republican Nonpartisan," and with Banks cutting into the conservative democratic element, Baer, the league man, might have a walk away. Everything has been framed with this end in view, and the republicans of the first district tend to fight to the limit to protect their rights and assure an even break for their candidate.

King Sol Puts In Biggest Bit of Work Today

King Sol arose a few seconds earlier today than upon any other day in the year and he remains on the job a few seconds longer. June 21 in this latitude is officially announced by Meteorologist O. W. Roberts, in charge of the weather bureau service for the state of North Dakota, to be the longest day of the year. The sun rose at 4:47 a. m. and sets at 8:41 in the evening. Its advent was preceded by probably ninety minutes dawn and its departure will be followed by as long a period of dusk and there will in reality be but six hours' actual darkness in the 24.

Bismarck gets 15 1/2 hours' actual sunlight, while Chicago will enjoy but 14 1/2, and the twin cities will about split the difference between the two points. While today will be the very longest day of the year, there is only a few seconds difference in the length of days from June 15 to June 22, on which date the days begin growing shorter.

Bismarck enjoys an exceptionally long day because it is near the point where the time changes, and it is just 43 minutes ahead of Chicago time, on a sunlight basis. It is this fact, coupled with the latitude, which enables Bismarck to enjoy outdoor posttimes until 9 o'clock and sometimes later on summer evenings.

LOST GROUND RECAPTURED BY HAIG'S ARMY

(By Associated Press.)

Heavy fighting in progress on the Aisne front, where the French are entrenched in favorable positions. The Germans apparently have heavily reinforced their troops in this sector by men drawn from the Russian front. One subdivision was sent into the fighting directly upon its arrival, making an attack yesterday.

The assault, which along a front of apparently less than a mile, was of extremely violent character. The French stopped the German rush, suffering only a slight penetration, of their first line at two points, aggregating between 50 and 700 yards. Paris reports that this slight gain was partly neutralized this morning when the French recaptured a portion of the lost ground. The crown prince's troops lost heavily and the French captured 50 prisoners.

Berlin's reports on yesterday's attack claims the capture of 4,500 yards of trenches. The French official announcement also records advances by General Petain's forces in the Champagne. During the fighting, five aviation machine guns were taken from the Germans.

On the fighting fronts in France the British forces, Field Marshal Haig have recaptured important positions from the Germans east of Arras, while the Germans in the Champagne.

LITTLE NAMED HEAD OF STATE IMMIGRATION

President of Bismarck Bank Chosen by North Dakota Boosters at Minot

MEETING IN BISMARCK TO COMPLETE PROGRAM

(Special to Tribune.)

Minot, N. D., June 21.—Col. C. R. Little, president of the First National bank of Bismarck, at a meeting of prominent business men and farmers from the north half of the state yesterday afternoon was named president of an association which will undertake to encourage immigration. Other officers are Vice presidents, E. W. Irish, Fargo; E. J. Lander, Grand Forks; John Bruegger, William, Frank Lish, Dickinson; J. R. Kelly, Wahpeton; general manager, C. C. Connolly, Devils Lake; secretary treasurer, Will E. Holbein, Minot.

The organization is such a one as was proposed by the North Dakota Association of Commercial Clubs at its annual meeting in Fargo a year ago last December. The purpose of the association is to make every county a unit, financing its own operations through public and private appropriations, and to engage in intensive immigration work, which, it is hoped, will bring thousands of settlers.

To Be Held Here. A similar meeting for the south half of the state will be held in Bismarck.

LOAN ASSOCIATION FORMED AT MANDAN

Mandan, N. D., June 21.—Yesterday afternoon about 40 farmers assembled at the Mandan Commercial club rooms and formed the Mandan Federal Loan association. At the organization meeting $22,500 worth of loan applications were presented. The association promises to be among the best in the county. The officers elected are: F. M. Klein, president, J. L. West, vice president, H. M. Hansen, John Zahner.

WANTS FOREST RESERVE

Slope County Resisting Efforts to Open National Tract. Bowman, N. D., June 21.—Slope county is making a determined effort to convince the United States government that the Soo national forest, known as the Roosevelt reserve, is worth retaining. There are 10 sections in the tract and the government has considered opening it to settlers. The reserve boasts of a fine growth of trees which are especially desirable. Slope county citizens point out, in a region where a tree is a rarity, there is no objection to the continued use of the reserve for grazing purposes.

NAVAL BATTLE NECESSARY TO END SUBMARINE

Activity of Submersibles Utilimately Will Force Engagement on Sea, Says Critic

Copenhagen, June 21.—The steady continuance of the submarine campaign, despite the decrease in destroyed tonnage, admitted in the daily report for May, will, in the opinion of Captain Kuehlwetter, the naval expert of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, ultimately force a general naval battle between the British and German fleets as the only means of ending the submarine menace.

Captain Kuehlwetter blames the good weather for the falling off in the number of submarine victims. He argues that the weather permits small submarine destroyers to venture further to sea and detect periscopes easier. In this argument the critic is quite impartial as he equally blames storms for the failure to secure better results in marks.

GERMAN BAPTISTS MEET

Thousand Delegates Attend Annual Conference at Martin. Martin, N. D., June 21.—A tent, accommodating 1,200 people, was taxed to care for the people who attended the opening sessions of the annual conference of North and South Dakota German Baptists, which opened here Tuesday. It is estimated that with new arrivals today, nearly 1,000 delegates are here. Services are being conducted in both German and English, and patriotism is a prominent theme. The conference continues until June 24.

$11,000 MARK PASSED IN RED CROSS CANVASS

Three More Days Left to Raise $15,000, Burleigh County's Quota of $100,000,000

LUNCHEON OF TEAM MEMBERS AT M'KENZIE

Campaign Will Be Waged Vigorously Until Saturday Evening

$43,500,000 REPORTED. Washington, June 21.—The nation-wide Red Cross financial campaign reached the half-way point today, with about half the $100,000,000 fund already pledged. Reports today showed a total of $43,500,000.

More than 25 cities already have exceeded their apportionment for the entire campaign. A large majority of the leading cities, however, still have more than half of their allotment to gather. Returns are coming in slowly from North Dakota and South Dakota, headquarters reported today.

With the $11,000 mark in the Red Cross war relief fund campaign passed today promises to add another thousand or two to the meager box. More than $2,000 was secured by the teams yesterday, which, with the state capital donations, places the grand total at $11,507.50.

The teams started out this morning to round up persons on their lists. Several large assessments are still out and there is plenty of work to keep the teams busy until Saturday.

Teams met this noon at the McKenzie hotel and talked over plans for the balance of the week. Enthusiasm is still at a high pitch among the business men, who have practically dedicated this week to the Red Cross work.

Rev. Hiltner, who was assessed a certain amount at the Monday dinner, today raised his subscription to $100. E. H. L. Vesperman raised his donation from $50 to $100.

No official reports have been received from the county teams as yet, but it was learned unofficially today that Wing has subscribed more than $1,000.

Bismarck has never responded as loyally to any cause in its history and when Burleigh county districts report Friday, it is believed the $15,000 mark will be reached.

The teams are taking no chances, however, but are canvassing everyone listed with a thoroughness characteristic of the entire campaign.

There have been instances where men have raised their subscriptions, indicating the deep interest in this movement to send dollars to back the boys who are to fight for the existence of democratic government.

Oh! the cheers and smiles and tears when the boys go away. They are going soon. Will your boy be among them? Your neighbor's boy? Your best friend's boy?

Thousands and thousands and thousands of them—all facing one way; heads up, shoulders squared, mouths firm, and teeth set.

You will see them go. You will see them through blinding tears? But you will send them off with a brave smile and a Godspeed. They will see you wave and hear you cheer and they will be proud to go for you.

Why don't you send your dollars along by way of the Red Cross?

Your Dollars Needed. Turn your dollars into nurses. It's your dollars that are needed if there are to be stretchers and bandages and medicines for wounded boys. It's your dollars we must have if they are to have comforts and hospital care. It's your dollars that will furnish the only semblance of home life they will see. Can you hold such things back?

They go to serve humanity. You've said so yourself. You, too, can serve humanity—you who are comfortable, protected, at ease, whose private life has hardly felt the results of this horrible conflict. Give! Give! Not until then will you really feel that you have at last made some sacrifice.

Has no one asked you? Don't wait for that. Go today or mail your contribution to Red Cross headquarters. There'll be no waiting for the boys when the call comes.

NEWS OF NORTH DAKOTA AND NORTHWEST

TEUTON'S WAR RECORD IS TOO TONIC FOR U. S.

Patriotic Pembina German Rejected Because of Pro-Prussian Ancestors

Pembina, N. D., June 21.—Chris Thedorf of St. Vincent, descendant of a long line of Teutonic warriors, produced a war record at the twin city recruiting station which proved too tonic for the recruiting officers. As far back as Chris knew anything about his ancestors they had been fighting for some Kaiser and doing a good job of it. Thedorf was sincere in his desire to serve Uncle Sam. He didn't believe the fact that his father and grandfather and great grandfather had served the German colors would prevent him from rendering good assistance in drubbing those same colors, now that they need it but he couldn't convince Uncle Sam's warriors that he would make a first class American fighting man, so he has returned to St. Vincent, content to do his fighting in the furrows.

M'Henry County Boasts State's Wealthiest Man

Towner, N. D., June 21.—Announcement that Harold Thorson of Drake has given $50,000 to the recently organized Norwegian Lutheran Church of America calls attention to the fact that in Mr. Thorson M'Henry county lays claim to the richest man in North Dakota. He has heretofore donated large sums to St. Olaf's college at Northfield, Minn.

Arm Cuts Capers While Owner Has Nap—Needs Alarm

Harmon, N. D., June 21.—Awakened from peaceful slumber, Asmund Kveinrud found one of his arms out of its socket and had to summon help to reset the member. The same arm has developed a habit of getting out of joint. Heretofore there has been some explanation for it. Now that it has developed some peculiarities, its owner contemplates devising an alarm clock which will arouse him when the refractory member seeks to take advantage of his slumbers.

FIRST NORTH DAKOTA SOLDIER ON FURLOUGH

Corporal Reginald Baskem of Pembina, Chewed Up at Courselette on Leave

Pembina, N. D., June 21.—Corporal Reginald Baskem of Pembina, who went overseas with the 2nd battalion, Canadian contingent, is the first North Dakota soldier to be furloughed home. In the battle of Courselette on Sept. 27, 1916, shrapnel wounded him in the neck, leg, arm and elbow. He crawled into a trench, where he lay for 36 hours before being removed to a base hospital, and he has just recovered sufficiently to come home on leave.

CONNECTICUT FAMILY IN LONG AUTO JAUNT

Pembina, N. D., June 21.—A G. Barrow and two sons, en route from Bridgeport, Conn., to Alberta, passed through Pembina. "It's days out." They are making the journey in a six cylinder car equipped with sleeping accommodations and they had spent but one night in a hotel.

END OF WORLD SEEN IN STRIFE BY ADVENTISTS

Religious Denomination in Conference at Harvey Preparing for Millennium

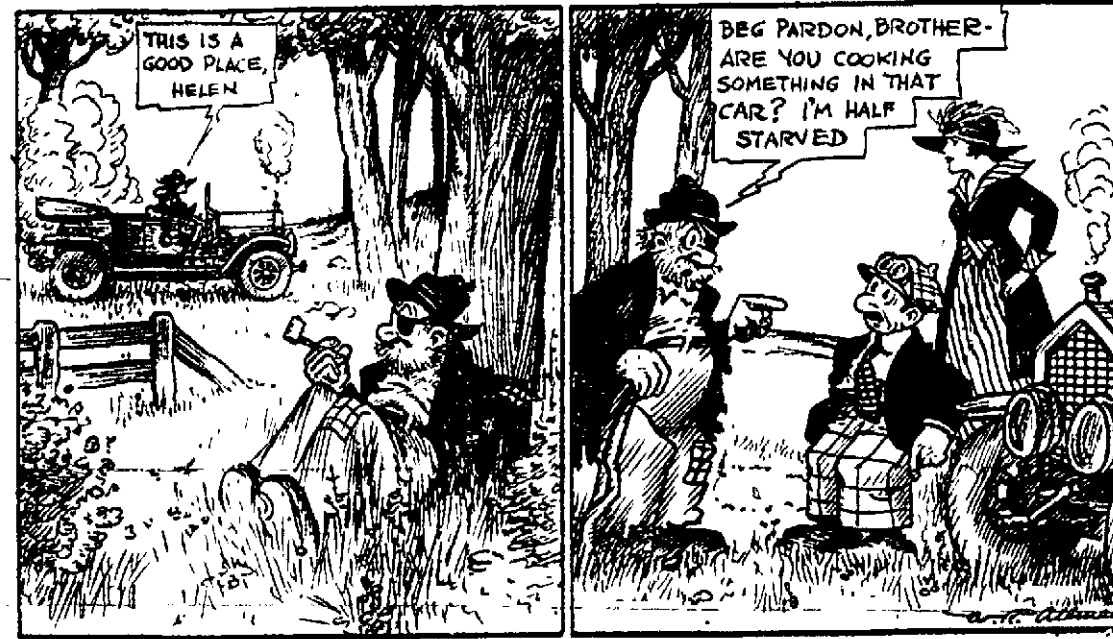

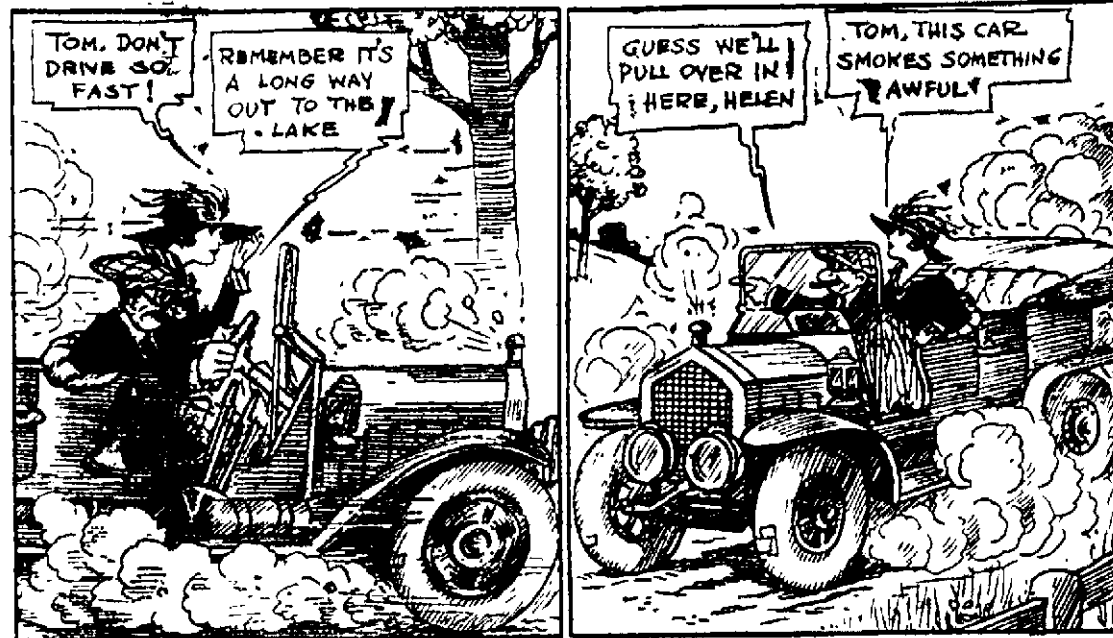

Harvey, N. D., June 21.—Seventh Day Adventists attending the annual North Dakota camp meeting here are preparing for the end of the world, firmly convinced that the titanic struggle now waging presages the second coming of the Savior, to purge the world of its present pollution and to found here anew his kingdom eternal. Prominent churchmen in all of their sermons quote passages from the Bible which are connected with present day events to support their argument that the millennium is near. The end of the war has been predicted from time to time by Seventh Day Adventists for many years, but never so strongly nor with such evident sincerity as now.

Members of the denomination, which observes the orthodox Hebrew practice of observing the seventh day as the Sabbath, abstains to a large extent from all meats and from pork in particular, which clings to immersion as John the Baptist is believed to have practiced it, are here from all sections of North Dakota, living in a comfortable, electric lighted city of 200 tents. Among the prominent elders in attendance is I. H. Evans, president of the North American division conference, which embraces all of the United States and Canada.

Firm in the belief that the end draws near, the meetings are marked with unusual fervor, and the manner of living of the hundreds assembled here approaches as near as possible their ideal of Christian practice.

THE CAR RUNS LIKE A SOFT COAL BURNER

YOU CAN'T BEAT THIS ONE

George Gussner's

Big Ranch of 700 acres is offered for sale, it is situated only one and one-half miles from the Northern Pacific depot.

This Ranch has all the improvements necessary for growing feed, stabling and fattening 1000 head of cattle at one time for a period of from four and one-half to five months. It too would be a Great Ranch on which to raise and handle thoroughbred stock, and a place of this kind is very much needed in and around Bismarck at the present time.

The place is newly built up and in a manner to last, so very little improvements will be needed for years to come. There is enough sand and gravel on the place to build another Bismarck. From these beds of sand and gravel I am making daily deliveries to contractors and builders in Bismarck and vicinity as well as shipping it away to out-of-town parties, which pays one a good yearly revenue.

Some man who has vision enough to see more than a year ahead can take this ranch and clean up a fortune in a very few years.

Over 400 acres of growing alfalfa on the Ranch which cuts three times a year, giving the ranch every advantage for the fattening of sows and pigs, as they do well on alfalfa.

It being located so near the city it will be but a short time when one could cut up a great part of the place into city lots which would pay for the place at the present price many times over.

For 25 years I have labored to make of this Ranch an ideal Packing Plant, until today with a very little outlay of money one could have a Plant of this kind second to none in all the northwest. There is trackage on the place; electric power by the Ranch telephone on same, besides water-works system running thru it to Fort Lincoln.

I also have for sale or to lease some good sections of Pasture land. Parties at all interested should investigate this too.

Associate Justice, Resident of State for 30 Years, to Talk to Old Settlers Valley City, N. D., June 21.—Justice James E. Robinson, most famed of all North Dakota supreme bench members, and himself a pioneer, has accepted an invitation to be speaker of the day for Valley City's old settlers' celebration on July 12. Judge Robinson has practiced law in North Dakota from early territorial days, when a majority of the territory was shown on school maps as a part of the Great American desert, though not nearly so dry as in recent months.

Greif Coates Learns What Grief Means

Charlson, N. D., June 21.—Greif Coates learned what his first name stands for when his registration card came back from Olathe, Kan. Local authorities had been looking for Greif for some time. A McKenzie county schoolman claims that Greif is the author of her woes. When his registration card came in, the Kansas sheriff was wired to take up Greif, which he did, advising Sheriff Randall here that Coates agreed to return to McKenzie county without extradition. Randall has gone to Olathe for the prisoner, who will be arraigned on his return.

Carrington Man's Ancestry Wouldn't Let Him Be Piker

Carrington, N. D., June 21.—Thomas Arnett of this city bought a Liberty bond. With his family record he couldn't help it. His mother, still living, at the age of 98, is the granddaughter of one of Washington's colonials; the daughter of a veteran of the war of 1812, the mother of a union soldier in the Civil war, and the great-grandmother of a youngster who has just enlisted to serve Uncle Sam in France. She positively refuses to permit any American war to come off if she cannot have an interest in it.

North Dakota Woman Called Home by News of Disaster

Westhope, N. D., June 21.—Called here to attend her father, J. D. Benson, suffering from a stroke of apoplexy, Mrs. Ernest Sully has hastened back to Butte, on receiving advice that her husband, foreman in the North Butte mine, was one of the victims of last week's disaster there. The shock of this news so expedited Mr. Benson's recovery that he was able to accompany his wife and daughter to Butte.

Don't the wife deserve modern tools for her work too?

Many a man farmer, artisan or business man alike buys the most modern tools for his work and lets his wife go on working over a stove that was out of date thirty years ago.

It's not selfishness—it's thoughtlessness and this appeal is to make you think.

A MONARCH Malleable Range in your kitchen would make a wonderful difference in your wife's house work.

It would make the work hours fewer and pleasanter.

AMERICAN SOCIALISTS NEUTRAL SAYS MEMBER OF PARTY AT STOCKHOLM

Stockholm, June 21.—Dr. Max Goldfarb, one of the American socialists who has arrived here, declares in a report submitted to the Dutch-Scandinavian committee, that the American socialist party is neutral. His report says:
"Although the United States is already in the war, I can say that the position of the American socialist party as a whole is strictly neutral and thoroughly international."
The report calls for the creation of a permanent socialist committee, whose sole purpose would be to work for a permanent peace. A second recommendation deals with the composition of the congress, which will be called upon to settle the issues of the present struggle, and demand a congress of representatives of the nation and not of the government."

Although Dr. Goldfarb, who is connected with the Forward, of New York, describes himself in Stockholm as a representative of the American socialist party, socialist leaders in this country state he has not been authorized to act on behalf of his party. Abraham Cahan, editor of the Forward, said yesterday that Dr.
Goldfarb was not an American, but a Russian citizen.

Annual North Dakota Convention
Opens With Much Enthusi-

More than 1,000 people attended the evening session of the North Dakota Sunday School association yesterday, the feature of which was an address by John L. Alexander of Chicago, on "The Story of the Secondary Division." Mr. Alexander's address was preceded by a song service, led by Dr. D. J. Williams and a chorus of Sunday school workers, accompanied by an orchestra. The song service closed with the singing of "America."

The address by Mr. Alexander was illustrated with stereoscopic views of Sunday school conventions and gatherings all over the United States and Canada. The speaker outlined the work of the Sunday school in the secondary department, preceding the talk on this feature with figures showing the growth of Sunday school work in the United States, having more than tripled during the last two years.

Service.
RIGID ROUTINE IS FOLLOWED

Paris.—Fifteen Americans have exchanged the strenuous life of the ambulance field service (which had intervals in its strenuousness) to study to become officers in the French army transportation service at a school where the course seems to leave no opening for the proverbial funder of employment for idle hands.

This school was established in Meaux toward the end of last March, and had 150 French pupils, officers and noncommissioned officers in training when the American contingent joined a week ago. The course is exactly the same for French and Americans, but the Americans are kept in a special class for the sake of those that need English-speaking instructors.

At 5:30 in the morning everyone is up and must be dressed, have made his bed and had breakfast in time to answer his name at roll call at 6:25.
As regards breakfast, the American stomach found that it could not do a morning's hard work on the regulation French breakfast of coffee and bread,
so eggs and bacon have been added.
From 6:30 to 7:30 theory is studied,
and from 7:30 to 9:30 lectures on automobile technique are given, followed by practical work in the workshop, such as soldering metals, tempering
steel and all sorts of force work.

Busy Session in Afternoon.
Luncheon at eleven is taken in the mess shed, and is, like dinner later, an excellent example of filial proficiency in cuisine for which France is unrivalled. At first the 15 Americans sat together, but on the second day their French comrades gave a dinner in their honor, and after that the Americans (who still wear their field section uniforms) divided up among the other tablets.

From 12:45 to 5:30 p. m. on three afternoons a week, work is done on the bodies of cannons (military trucks);
they are disassembled and put together again, etc. On the other three afternoons the convoi (train) of cannons, generally eight, are taken out as if they were in actual service. Each man in turn is named head of the section (and is in general charge for the day).
Orders are given him to take a hypothetical load of munitions to some point some miles away, and he has to conduct his train by the map, set the pace, keep them together, and show them how to overcome difficulties that arise. These difficulties are at present chiefly imaginary, but hypothetical cases of broken axles, of towing cars, etc., are treated.

The lieutenant attached to the American group, Lieutenant de Kersauson, whose long residence in California has given him a perfect mastery of the American language, accompanies the train, but gives no advice, only observes. If the officer of the day mistakes his route, he has to find out his error and rectify it himself. After the return at 5:45, the lieutenant gives a half-hour criticism of the convoi's work and points out mistakes made and how to avoid them.

Evening Spent in Study.
Dinner is at 6:30, and more study follows till 10 p. m., when all lights are put out. Such a program, with plenty of manual work in the open air, provides enough exercise, but regular army drill is put in three times a week under two veteran quartermasters, who see that the hour allotted is well employed.

Sunday is a day of rest, or would be, only that many—in fact, all—find it necessary to catch up the week's work, read up notes, make or finish diagrams and such things, which they have had only the time to do hurriedly during the week.
The course is really an "intensive course," somewhat forced, as it is hoped that after three weeks' study the Americans will be prepared for examinations which will allow them to be made sublieutenants in the transport service and be put in charge of a section of 50 men. Five weeks is the time allowed their French comrades
for the same work.

Everyone knows what automobile transportation means in modern warfare, and its importance has been plain to the least military mind ever since it saved Verdun. A section of 50 Americans is already at work at the front conducting cannons moving ammunition from railroad to the ammunition stations, and the new school at Meaux will provide Americans to officer these sections and the new ones that will follow if Pratt Andrew, inspector general of the "American field service in France," is justified in his hope of seeing a hundred men arrive each week from the States for this service.

American Flag on the Gate.
The officers in charge of the automobile instruction center at Meaux (there are other schools for drivers mechanics, etc.), from Colonel Borsch on down, are all keenly interested in the coming of the Americans, and the colonel spoke highly of the serious work they had settled down to work. The gate into the camp of 16 barrack sheds has an American flag on one post and a French one on the other.
When the New York Sun's correspondent visited the school recently, the convoi was sent to the village of Crecy, where all the trucks were to be parked in the market place (drawn up side by side, close together, at an angle to the main road so that they could be started off again without delay). The little village seemed sad and deserted as the convoi arrived,

as do most French villages these days,
with nothing but aged men, women and children at home. But it woke up as the trucks lumbered in and took up their appointed places.

"Are they English?" asked a woman who appeared at her shop door.
"No."
"Then they are Russians."
"Neither."

When she heard that they were Americans, then she beamed with content. It seemed an earnest of the aid that was coming, and evidently convinced the good woman that the United States had declared war far more vividly than anything she had read or heard said.

The military spirit is strong in this new band of fighters for France. A salute and permission is asked from the lieutenant to go and buy cigarettes at the shop, 20 yards away, although the cannons were all now parked in an irreproachable line and a halt was being taken. At a previous halt, when the officer of the day was deciding which road he should take,
and every driver had got down for a few minutes, great was the discussion whether a cigarette could be smoked, the "antis" holding that they were on duty, when smoking is barred, while the "pros" agreed that a halt was a break in the service.

Military Etiquette Observed.
The captain of the center, who was conducting the New York Sun's correspondent to see the convoi at practical work, passed by the drivers several times, and this brought up the question whether he should be saluted every time or treated as being on duty with them, when the first salute at meeting would suffice.

But there was a deeper question that each was eager to discuss. Were they doing the best they could for their own country and for France? Should they be where they were, or ought they to be in their own country offering it their services directly? They all had served with the American ambulance sections at the front, and have all succeeded in becoming heads of sections. This experience has taught them a useful knowledge of the French language. Several have lived years in France and know the language thoroughly. It has taught them much about the French army and trench warfare, and given them already a valuable training. They wonder whether they are using this training to the best advantage, or whether they ought to be at home, where armies are forming and men with their qualities are being needed. Meanwhile they are working hard and acquiring further training, which will assuredly make them valuable officers for the first American troops to take the field in France.

This first class of 15, training at Meaux to become transport officers, is composed of Charles Frechon, California; Allan Muir, Philadelphia;
Henry Iselin, Paris; George Struby,
Denver; A. Douglas Lodge, New York;

torical Library.

registration department, left by auto

WANT HIGHER RATES.—
The railway commission this morning received a communication from the Ward Fruit company of Minot, asking that the board grant the railway's request for a 15 per cent increase in intrastate freight rates, providing the commissioners on investigation find the companies entitled to this boost.

INTERESTING POINT.—
An interesting point involved in the case of Beauchamp vs. the North Dakota Retail Merchants' Insurance company, on trial today in supreme court, is a question as to the validity of the "iron safe" clause in the plaintiff's insurance policy. About $8,000 is involved. Supreme courts of other states recently have ruled on the iron safe clause, and insurance men attach much importance to the North Dakota court's opinion on the subject.

LIGNITE GOING UP.—
The board of control yesterday awarded contracts for lignite coal for the institutions under its direction.
The Dakota Lignite company of Dickinson will furnish fuel for the Mandan training school and the state capitol; the Washburn Lignite company of Wilton, for the penitentiary hospital for the insane at Jamestown and school for the deaf at Devils Lake, and the Truax Mining company at Noonan, for the Dunsmuir sanitarium and the institutions at Gratton and Bathgate. Prices for lignite are 30 cents higher than last year, and to this increased cost, probably will be added 8 cents, as the higher freight costs made possible through the beneficent workings of the league's new distance tariff measure.

CAN'T HOLD TWO JOBS.—
That Major Angus Fraser must resign his office as register of deeds for Cass county if he accepted the adjutant generalship is held at the state house in compliance with a ruling made by the attorney general last winter when the question of the right of county officers to hold state positions and draw pay for county jobs at the same time was brought up. County Treasurer Prater of Burleigh served as assistant secretary. Both, however, named substitutes in the county offices during their absence. Whether Major Fraser, in accepting an appointment for two years, can apply the same practice that held good in connection with appointments for two months remains to be learned.

LOOSEN UP—COME THROUGH!

Last week we were winding up the campaign to sell Liberty Bonds. We came through to a magnificent finish. We won, hands down!

Now we are in the midst of another great campaign to raise money. This time it's for the Red Cross.

This time we are not investing our money where it will bring back interest and principal. This time we are giving it.

This time we've got to show our real spirit. This time we've got to show how our hearts feel.

And just because that is so we ought to come through stronger than ever.

Let the dollars jingle throughout America. Let's get ready to take care of the boys we'll soon have at the front.

The Red Cross must have every cent it needs. Loosen up, Americans. Come through!

BETTER THAN USUAL.

"Business as usual?" Impossible. It isn't in the cards. War is now the nation's business. Will be until Kaiserism is licked. And war isn't usual. It's unusual. So business will be unusual. But that doesn't mean business will be dull. There's no reason for pessimism. Business will boom. You can't spend ten billions a year for clothing, shoes, munitions, machinery, material, food and supplies without an unusual circulation of money. That means business—unusual business.

That's the thing business men must get in their heads. We've got to re-adjust business. There will be plenty of money. Business will expand. The demand for labor will be unusual. War will diminish the supply. Railroads will have to be organized to do more business than ever. Waste must be cut out everywhere. Non-essentials will have to give way to essentials, luxuries to necessities.

First—let every manufacturer understand that the demand for necessities will be unusually large, and the demand for luxuries unusually small. Also, that the nation's new business—war—is more important to the nation's life than the individual's old business. Let the individual make the nation's business his business. If his business doesn't fit the new game let him change his business.

Second—After all, this is a defensive war on our part. If we fail our business will go to smash. Safety first—that means the nation's safety first. The individual's will follow. Unless the nation's business is successful the individual's can't be. And the nation's business is war.

Food, hogs, coal, hogs, material, hogs, supply, hogs, industrial, commercial and financial hogs—all these, are a menace to the successful prosecution of the nation's business. There must be cooperation. All business must have a common purpose. The cost of living must come down. We must conserve the manhood, womanhood and childhood of the nation. No greediness. No exploitation. No selfishness. All for each and each for all. That means business as unusual and democracy triumphant!

The question is, did Russian vodka leak into China or Chinese opium into Russia? They're both on a spree.

THE MAYOR WHO "WONT."

Introducing Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago—some mayor Thompson is mayor of America's second city. It is no small burg. Its motto is "I Will."

Thompson's motto is "I Won't." When the French and British commissions came to America Thompson refused to invite them to Chicago. He gave out a grouchy interview about them.

Then came the Liberty Loan. Thompson didn't buy a bond.

Thompson hasn't done anything to root the slackers out of Chicago, either.

Chicago ought to add the three words, "kick him out, to its motto and apply the whole thing to its "I won't" mayor.

LEARN TO SPEAK FRENCH.

The Daily Tribune, starting a series of lessons in French for men who expect to fight in France, urges upon these men, and upon all its readers, the advisability of French study on the part of those men and women who are to make up our selected army and Red Cross contingents.

The French language, necessary in some degree to all our soldiers, will be doubly necessary to those men who expect to study or work for commissions as officers. As officers they are likely to deal with officers of the French army—and French is the language of international intercourse, throughout the world.

The Daily Tribune's lessons are designed to teach all the French that can be taught, in limited time, through the medium of print. But further instruction will be required by those who aim to become really proficient in the French tongue.

With a tax of $60 a hundred pounds on grain used for booze, plain old red-eye will likely take the place of champagne in popularity among our "gilded fools."

Parlez-vous Francais? Daily Tribune Hires Teacher So Men in Our Army May Speak French

"Parlez-vous Francais?" will be a common greeting when the selected American army arrives in France.

The Tribune intends that the soldiers from Bismarck shall be able to respond: "Out, out, Monsieur!"

The Tribune has added to its staff a teacher of French. Her first lesson in the language of our republican allies of Europe will appear in these pages tomorrow.

The teacher, Mme. Paul Archinard, was selected because she is thoroughly familiar with conditions the American troops will face on the western front. She has made two trips to the fighting lines in France, and has been engaged in Red Cross and relief work behind the lines.

She was the author of eye-witness articles on German atrocities in the invaded sections of France, published in the Tribune some two months ago. She is a French instructor of high repute in America.

Mme. Archinard's lessons will take up phrases in common use, their French equivalent and the pronunciation.

Mme. Archinard

tion as near as it can be simulated in English syllables. Her first lessons will deal with questions such as soldiers will ask in inquiring their way about French towns, or Paris.

Later she will give phrases for use in ordering meals in a restaurant.

Other lessons will include French army slang—for the American soldier will wish to be conversant with the every day language of his French fighting fellow in the trenches.

No pretense will be made, of course, that The Tribune's printed lessons will make the reader a fluent speaker of French.

They will supply a basis, however, upon which the language can later be learned or studied with profit.

They will supply the primary needs of our selected soldiers.

They will be equally useful to young women who intend going to France as Red Cross nurses. Such young women should by all means study the language of the country in which they intend to work.

Mme. Archinard's lessons will start in The Tribune tomorrow. Watch for them.

THE TREMENDOUS SUCK OF A WORLD FAMINE IS DESTROYING BASIS OF AMERICA'S FOOD SUPPLY

(The writer of this article is a member of the farm loan board. For many years he has been a contributor to this newspaper. He is beyond question one of the best posted and clearest thinking men in this country on the subject of food production, distribution and conservation. He is not a long-haired theorist, but a practical, hard-headed expert. We consider this article a tremendous argument for the immediate passage by congress of the food bill which gives to Herbert C. Hoover authority to do what must be done to meet the food crisis in this country.—EDITOR)

By HERBERT QUICK.

Washington, June 21.—There is a food crisis in the United States. Anyone who denies this, shuts his eyes to obvious facts. Food scarcity is not the absence of food. In any civilized country food scarcity always shows itself in the high prices and never in the absolute absence of food. The laboring people of the United States, and people with small incomes, are pinched today in the matter of food.

What is famine? It is nothing on earth but high prices carried to the point which makes it so hard to buy food that any large body of population cannot buy enough to properly feed themselves.

Food was exported from Ireland during the worst periods of the great Irish famine. Food has always been exported from India during her worst famines.

What is the basis of our food supply?

It is the seed from which crops are grown, and the breeding animals of our flocks and herds, the hens, the geese, the ducks, the turkeys, the sows, the cows, the goats and the ewes. These are the seed of our food crops and our food animals.

Which should have been almost full grown kept down almost to their infant size by being deprived of this mysterious and wonderful substance which is found dissolved in the late provided by the mother element in nature.

We hear of fat-starvation in Germany. This comes from the fact that the dairy cows of Germany were very largely killed off after the first year of the war.

An expert in foods told me the other day, at Memphis, Tenn., that he expected milk to be 20 cents a quart next summer in the south, and I hear predictions of 40 cents a quart in various parts of the industrial north.

When such prices arrive, the fat-starvation of Germany will be repeated in this country, and when the dairy herds are reduced to the point of such scarcity as this, it will take years to build them up again.

Our dairy herds are being depleted in just that manner. Whole regions are being stripped of their breeding cows, because the high price of beef tempts the cattle owner to sell. He thinks of his $100 or $150 per cow today rather than of conserving his part of the future meat and milk supply of the country. These cows are going for beef. They are going by the thousands to slaughter houses to be canned. The heifer calves are being killed for veal.

There is already a famine in seeds, over much of the country. In the south, the committees in charge of increased production are searching high and low for a bushel here and a bushel there of soy beans, cow peas, velvet beans, seeds of the various sorghums, California black-eyed peas, and many other seeds. They are parceling them out to the farmers whom they are inducing to plant as thin as possible, so as to make the seeds cover the maximum amount of ground. A project is on foot to sow the three states of Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas, but the southern wheat has been sold ahead of the harvest to the millers for food. That wheat is now going to market, and if the farmers of the south are to have the varieties of seed wheat which they must have, they must buy it back at starvation prices to seed their fields. In a trip over nine southern states recently, I found only two sorts of seed which were not scarce—corn and cotton.

Go to any country railroad station in the United States, and you will find on every platform crates full of laying hens, ducks and other poultry. If the country were actually starving, there is no one way in which so much animal food could be produced quickly as by multiplying our poultry flocks. I make the claim that if a census were made today of the poultry of the country, it would be found that it is decreasing instead of increasing.

Power must be lodged somewhere in the government to take hold of this matter with a strong hand, otherwise the present scarcity of food may reach the point where it will have to be called by a stronger name. Someone must have power to seize the seeds. Someone must have power to control the selling and slaughtering of female animals. We are setting up machinery for the control of a food administration. Unless seeds and female animals are conserved, this food administration will not save us from things which one dislikes to predict. The cows, hens, ewes and sows, and other breeding animals are being turned into meat, in an endless and increasing stream.

The seed wheat of the south is already moving to the mills. The tremendous suck of a world famine has caught the germinal elements of our food supply, and is sweeping it into the world's hungry maw. The way out is through plain, prompt, effective, strong and wise administration of the seed elements of our fields, gardens, flocks and herds. There is no time to be lost.

SEMI-MONTHLY PAY.—North Dakota public service corporations are preparing to make an adjustment in bookkeeping which will become necessary with the advent of the semi-monthly pay day, July 1. The bill passed as originally introduced. The senate pulled its teeth by restricting its operations to railways, but the house restored all public service corporations, and procured its passage in that form. It is a measure for which railway brotherhoods of the state lobbied valiantly.

OLDFIELD, AFTER NEW RECORD, INVENTS NEW SUBMARINE CAR TO BURN THE SPEEDWAYS WITH

By PAUL PURMAN.

Yes, it's our old friend, Barney Oldfield, back again. Same cigar, same goggles, same grin, same Barney, but a new car, by the way, which will look like a real streak without human agency to guide it.

For when Barney's new car is in action he and his mechanician are inside the covered top.

Barney calls the racer, "The Submarine," on account of its peculiar construction. The torpedo body is built high enough to permit the occupants to sit comfortably inside, shielded from the rushing wind as Barney takes the turns at breakneck speed. In early trials Oldfield has driven his car a little faster than 107 miles an hour and expects to cop some of the big speedway events this season with "The Submarine."

Lunge Is Exercise That Helps the Entire Body

By JIM RICE.
(Famous College Coach and Physical Director.)

When performed with a rifle this is one of the setting-up exercises at West Point.

Stand with your feet about 14 inches apart. Then shoot the hands forward and upward as far as you can at the same time stepping out briskly with your right foot. Having performed this operation, say, six times, go through the arm movements again, this time stepping out with your left foot.

This exercise loosens up the muscles of the shoulders, as well as those of the back. It also gives plenty of work for the muscles of the thighs.

Don't forget to do this every time you lunge forward. Take a good long breath as you step out, and exhale as you are recovering.

I might mention that it is necessary in all of these exercises to breathe regularly and deeply. Unless you take plenty of good, fresh air into your lungs these exercises are worse than useless. Instead of helping you to build up your body, they will only wear you down.

Memorial to Key.

James Lick, a California millionaire, who died in 1876, bequeathed the sum of $500,000 for the erection of a bronze monument in Golden Gate park, San Francisco, in honor of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner." AZTECS' FEAST OF THE DEAD

Custom of Burning Up an Image of the Departed Is Still Common Among Indians of California.

The religion of the ancient Mexicans seems to have been characterized throughout by a peculiar blood-thirstiness, involving constant human sacrifice. The feast of the dead was celebrated after this fashion:

"They took a faggot of ood, which in Spain would be called pitch wood, and they dressed it up in blanket or dress. If the dead person had been a woman, they dressed the faggot in her petticoats and put it in front of cooking pots and other household utensils. If the dead person had been a chief and a valiant man, they dressed the faggot in a rich mantle and waist-cloth and labret and gave it a hand-ful of pitch wood. The labret was made of a piece of amber or crystal. This, which they were accustomed to wear when they drank or danced in their native ceremonies, hung down from a hole pierced through the lip. They seated the image on a sleeping mat and they put there much food and they invited the principal men there. Then they put fire to the pitch wood and everything which they had put there burned up."

The custom of burning up an image, together with offerings for the dead, was not only found among the Aztecs but is also common among the Indians of California today.—The Southern Workman.

MANY GREAT MEN DIED POOR

Burne's Last Hours Were Tortured With Thought of Paltry Debt He Could Not Pay.

It was old Sam Johnson of dictionary fame—was it not?—who once wore boots so full of holes that they freely admitted the pebbles!

Burns died with hardly a copper in the house, his last hours tortured with the thought of a paltry debt he could not pay, while among the musical geniuses who have suffered most severely at the hands of Dame Fortune a conspicuous place must be accorded to Mozart and Hayden, both of whom at one period of their lives were on the verge of starvation.

Though in their early manhood Wellington and Disraeli were both gravely handicapped by debt, neither of these great men ever suffered anything like the privations that President Lincoln and President Garfield did. Most men can at least declare there were four walls around them when they were born into the world, but even this poor Lincoln hardly could boast.

General Grant is known in history, of course, as the commander-in-chief of the Northern armies in the Civil war and eventually as president of the United States, but it may not be equally widely known that, in spite of the great offices he so ably filled, he died with hardly a copper in his possession.

One of War's Tragedies.

The closing of Robert college is not the least of the small tragedies of the war. Founded in 1863, it has for half a century steadily increased its influence over the life and thought of the near East. Although situated in Constantinople, it has drawn most of its students from neighboring countries—Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece and Armenia. While its consistent policy has been to leave politics strictly alone, not a little of the Liberal movement in the near East may be traced to its doors. It is asserted that Bulgaria won her independence through men educated at Robert college; and a number of the Greek and Serbian high officials owe to it their early training. Even the Young Turk party, which brought about the revolution of some years ago and so nearly succeeded in its enterprise of liberalization, was largely inspired by men trained there. Whether its work is now finally ended, hinges on the result of the war.

BURBOT IS FRESH-WATER COD

Species Which Inhabits Northern Part of Western Hemisphere Has a Voracious Appetite.

The burbot has the distinction of being the only fresh-water member of the cod family, all of its relatives living in the sea. Its habitat circles the earth, two almost indistinguishable species being found, one each, in the lakes and larger streams of the northern parts of the two hemispheres. In North America it occurs from the Arctic circle, and perhaps beyond it, to the Ohio and Missouri rivers, being particularly abundant in the Great Lakes and the larger waters of New England, New York, Canada and Alaska.

It is said to spawn in the winter and early spring and like most of its family is exceedingly prolific, estimates of the number of eggs ranging from 100,000 in a medium-sized fish to 670,000 in a large one. Its voracity is notorious. By day it hides in the holes and crannies of the bottom or in the deeper waters, but at night it goes forth to prey on other fishes, crawfishes, and, at least in early life, on aquatic insects and fish eggs. Its highly distensible stomach is as elastic as its appetite and it takes a heavy toll of its neighbors, the particular trait which has brought it into disfavor with the fishermen who brook no rivalry in their calling.

PROMOTION BASED ON THRIFT

Great Bank Has Rule Not to Advance Employees Who Have Not Saved Part of His Salary.

Extravagance and lack of thrift are at the bottom of practically every breach of trust committed by trusted employees and officials. In a certain international bank, known all over the world, a rule established by one of its shrewd founders is rigidly, though almost secretly, enforced. Every young man who enters its service is closely watched. He must not only bear himself properly at all times, but he must save part of his salary. He is not urged or even advised to do so. It is left to himself. If he makes no provision for the future he never occupies a position of trust, handles money, securities or negotiable paper, or is authorized to sign bank obligations of any character.

An employee of this bank once stationed in New York city who spoke several languages and displayed great ability found out while here the existence of this secret rule when he applied for a vacancy which he was in every way capable of filling. He was told in the kindest way that advancement along that line was not for him because they knew that he had not saved a dollar in the 22 years of his service. The principle underlying this rule is that the man who cannot take care of his own money is temperamentally unfit to take care of other people's. Experience has taught more than one great financial institution that the man who lays up a competence for himself will not risk disgrace and ruin by stealing from those who trust him.—New York Commercial.

Wilberforce was one day addressing a meeting—writes Mr. Adderley—and I suppose he coughed or cleared his throat in the midst of his speech.

"Try Thorley's food for cattle," said a voice.

"Thank you," said the bishop, "it may be good for asses, for it does not suit Samuel Oxon."

On another occasion his audience hissed. Said Wilberforce, "Remember, gentlemen, that is not an excessively human utterance."

Homes for Foreign Diplomats.

For many years the foreign headquarters of the United States diplomatic corps have been exceedingly inadequate. Any residence was considered good enough for consular and diplomatic duties until the war began, when the importance of such duties had occasion to be emphasized. Now a bill has been introduced into congress providing an appropriation of $200,000 a year for the rent of suitable buildings in foreign countries for the use of the diplomatic service, both as residences of diplomatic officials and as offices of the diplomatic establishments.

ONE OF SHORTEST REVOLTS

Russia's Successful Revolution of Brief Duration When Compared to Many Others.

For its size and significance the Russian revolution was one of the quickest and least sanguinary on record. Six days practically saw the end of it, whereas more than three years elapsed between the storming of the Bastille and the proclamation of the French republic, the London Observer states. It took six days of barricade fighting in 1830 to persuade Charles X to abdicate; but Louis Philippe fled in 1848 after only two, though the subsequent state of siege lasted four months. England was ten years in establishing a commonwealth and five weeks sufficed to convince James II that French soil was healthier for him than English. The Italian wars of liberation occupied most of 1800; and the insurrection in which the Greeks deposed king Otto in 1862 was over in 14 days. The quickest revolution on record was that of Portugal, in 1910, which was over in a day.

Bad for Peaceful Animals.

War times, it seems, are bad for peace-loving animals, domestic and wild alike. Everyone knows how horses and mules have been killed by hundreds of thousands. The world understands that unusual demands have been made upon the flocks and herds available for food. It is known everywhere that campaigns in widely different parts of the earth have destroyed practically all living things in wide areas. But these are by no means all the losses sustained.

War prices have made it hard for many families to buy food for pet animals. Some have necessarily been given up for that reason. More will suffer the same fate. Many farmers have reduced their live stock because it costs too much to feed cattle, sheep and swine, even at the present market price for beef, mutton and pork. Old and infirm horses have been killed in large numbers to cut off the expense of feeding them.

WILL NOT MARRY ON FRIDAY

Meet Women Still Cling to This Old Superstition But French Girls Think That Day Fortunate.

There is no period in a woman's life that so completely changes her whole existence as marriage, and for that very reason she is apt to be more superstitious and fanciful at that time than at any other, and while superstitions are fast becoming a thing of the past there are few women who will not hesitate before making Friday their wedding day, says London Tit-Bits.

June and October have always been held as the most propitious months, a happy result being thought by some to be rendered certain if the ceremony is timed so as to take place at the full moon or when the sun and moon are in conjunction.

In Scotland the last day of the year is thought to be lucky and the moon should happen to be full at any time when a wedding takes place the bride's cup of happiness is expected to be always full.

HALL EXPECTS 60,000 MOTOR CAR LICENSES

Secretary of State Predicts
Number of Vehicles Registered Will Be Large

WHOLESALE ARRESTS FOR BORDER COUNTY BANDITS

Present indications are that there will be at least 60,000 registered motor vehicles in this state before the end of the year. At the present time over 12,000 more cars and motorcycles are registered than were registered last year. This number will be greatly increased as reports from various parts of the state, particularly the western and southwestern part, indicate that the motor vehicle law has not been vigorously enforced.

Secretary of State Thomas Hall has been conducting a campaign for the past two months that has resulted in bringing into the fold of registered vehicles hundreds of cars that heretofore have not been licensed. The co-operation of the county sheriffs and state attorneys throughout the state has been enlisted, and the result of this work, together with the work of a few special officers, is evident in the increased number of registered cars.

Border Counties Problem.
Counties in the eastern part of the state bordering on the Red river have a problem to solve, in the case of cars owned in this state operating with Minnesota tags. Information has been secured by the state department, in over 1,000 cases, and wholesale arrests are likely to be made at any time. The matter has been taken up with the Minnesota state department, with the result that additional arrests will be made by the Minnesota authorities on the charge of making false statements in license applications. The state of Minnesota issues a three-year license for less than the annual North Dakota fee, but the saving is small in comparison to the costs that will be assessed against Dakotans who have been registering their cars in Minnesota.

Dealers Fail to Comply.
There are still hundreds of dealers in the state who have not complied with the new regulations relative to dealers. The idea has been prevalent in parts of the state that this law would not take effect until July 1. The law became operative in March and is being rigidly enforced. The result is a relative to glaring headlines in effect July 1. This law puts the ban on all lights which throw a direct ray over 42 inches above the road at a distance of 75 feet. Thousands of auto owners in the state have already complied with that law, and no difficulty is expected in enforcing it.

County Officers Help.
According to the secretary of state, the sheriffs and state attorneys in the various counties have been more than glad to aid in the work of enforcing the automobile regulations. Certain of them take a pardonable pride in the fact that their counties are comparatively free of unregistered cars. The greatest difficulty has been experienced in the larger cities of the state, but police departments are showing more of a spirit of co-operation now than they did earlier in the season.

Money for Roads.
Over $11,000 was distributed among the 52 counties in the state last year, practically all of which went into road improvement work. This amount will be greatly increased this year, and will mean more and better roads. The secretary of state is anxious to have every auto and motorcycle owner in the state appoint himself a committee of one to see that his own and every motor vehicle he meets on the highways is properly registered. Such action will mean better roads in the state, which benefit motor vehicle owners more than any others.

WHISKER BAN IN HOBOKEN

All Growths Between Eyes and Adam's Apple Must Be Chopped Down.

Hoboken.—The mustaches of Hoboken—long burdened with foam and tortured with Wilhelm bands—now are going away from here. First the city employees are to become barefaced, and after that the entire population is expected to come out into the open and live long, frank-chinned and sanitary lives.

The fall in Hoboken was signaled when Dr. Joseph Stack, chief medical inspector of the board of health, notified the city employees that all that stood between them and perfect health was their germ-carrying lip hedge. In an announcement circulated by a heavily bearded messenger that inspector called attention to the unspeakable heurter and begged all who observed to remove instantly all the facial underbrush. Persons who have been comfortable for years felt itchy after reading the physician's masterpiece.

Michael Whalen, who has long been the trust officer of Hoboken, was the first to remove the menace, and boys who had carefully avoided him for two full terms were snared and forced into a life of educational endeavor. Today Doctor Stack, who has a reasonably huge black mustache himself, starts doing without it, and within a few weeks official Hoboken will undoubtedly be beardless as a babe.

LANGER LOSES OUT AGAIN IN RECENTS CASE

Attorney General Out of Luck in Efforts to Oust Hanna Board
From Jobs

QUESTION NOW AS TO VACANCIES IN JULY

A final decision came in the board of regents fight which has loomed large on the North Dakota political horizon since January, last evening when the supreme court entered an order denying Attorney General Langer's motion for a rehearing. The old board won the first decision in supreme court several weeks ago, when that tribunal denied the petition of Governor Frazier, filed through the attorney general, for a writ of ouster.

The litigation had its inception Jan. 15, the last date upon which the governor could message to the senate nominees to succeed two members of the board of regents, whose terms expire July 1. Instead of two names, the governor sent in five, with a lengthy opinion from the attorney general holding the appointment of the board two years ago by Governor Hanna and its confirmation by the senate illegal, inasmuch as these acts took place in March, as prescribed by the act, while the act did not become effective until July 1.

The senate rejected all nominations. They were twice returned and twice more rejected, and adjournment was taken without any nominations having been confirmed. Governor Frazier's next step was to serve notice on the board of regents, declaring their seats vacant and demanding place for his five nominees, whom he furnished with commissions. The board resisted, and ouster proceedings followed. There is now said to be a question whether the governor can name successors to the two members whose terms expire July 1, inasmuch as he did not submit his nominations for confirmation by the senate at the proper time.

TWINS PUZZLE TO TEACHERS

Eight Pairs of Them in One Omaha
School Are Cause of Much Confusion.

Omaha, Neb.—Whether Jimmy is Jimmy or his brother Johnny, and Johnny really Johnny or just Jimmy, is the question that constantly confronts teachers at the Webster school. Eight pairs of twins in the school are the cause of the complexity of the situation.

Three pairs are boys, three girls and two "fifty-fifty."

In Miss Erlene Jeskalke's third grade class are three pairs, Newell and Donald Davis, Lucile and Lillian Poulson, and Walter and Wade White.

In each case the twins are as much alike as peas in a pod.

In confidence it is whispered that the twins have changed seats in their classrooms without anyone being a bit the wiser excepting themselves. The seating arrangement, Miss Jeskalke admits, is the only means by which she can tell one of a pair from the other.

JUMPS INTO THE SOUP POT

Negro Walter Gets Scare When He Opens Box Marked "Fresh Eels."

Pittsburgh, Pa.—When Jasper Cook, negro, waiter in the Hotel Newell, on request of the chef opened a box marked "fresh eels" and saw several large and angry black snakes, with fangs bared, glide out on the floor he promptly jumped in the big soup pot, which fortunately was filled with a lukewarm mixture.

In three seconds after the first snake made his appearance, Jasper was the only human being left in the cookery and he was speechless from fear.

It took the police half an hour to clear out the snakes which had been sent to the hotel as a joke. When fished from the soup pot, Jasper vowed "dem wrigglers suttinly dun give me a scare."

OWL PUTS OUT THE LIGHTS

Leaves a North Carolina Town in Total Darkness, but Loses Its Life.

Durham, N. C.—A few nights ago, about 9:30 o'clock, the electric lights of Morganton, N. C., began flickering and finally went out. It was later discovered that a little insignificant screech owl was the cause of the trouble, losing its life as a forfeit for attempting to light on an insulator and for depriving Morganton of lights for about five hours.

The bird was shown on the streets of the town. Its wings were scorched from tip to tip and its body was burned by contact with the live wire.

When the owl alighted on the insulator, the current was started racing to the ground and the insulator burst. The live wire was burned in two, and when it fell the current was cut off automatically at the switching station.

An Explanation.
Charlotte had been taught to say the grace before each meal. One day she was invited to a little friend's for dinner. When the father and mother of Charlotte were seated for dinner, Brad-dock, a three-year-old brother, bowed his head and said: "Amen, God, Charlotte's gone."

TO DIG UP CELLARS USED BY ITALIAN

New York, June 21.—The cellar of every building occupied by Alfredo Cocchi, in whose shop the body of Ruth Cruger was found buried last Saturday, is to be dug up by detectives to learn if more girls met a similar fate. The work of excavating the cellars was begun today in several buildings in which Cocchi conducted motorcycle repair shops.

In an open letter to Mayor Mitchell, made public today, Henry Cruger, father of the murdered girl, asks for the removal of Commissioner Woods and the reorganization of the police department under a new head.

DISLIKE THE TERM "HANDS"

British Writers Suggest Use of "Workers" to Designate the Tilters of Both Sexes.

In England some object to "hands," meaning "workmen" and wish the latter term to be used. But what of women now doing men's work for the same pay? A London journal suggests "workers" as a single term for both sexes.

What is the objection to "hands," asks Philip Hale in the Boston Herald. "Hand" and "hands" were used in reference to an artist, musician, writer, actor, as well as workman or workwoman. Thus Evelyn in 1744 spoke of pictures in miniature painted by rare hands. H. Latrobe read of "a band of music consisting of the best hands from the opera and both the theaters."

"Hands" for "workmen" goes back as far as 1655. In Olmstead's "Slave States" we read: "The children begin as 'quarter hands,' advancing to 'half-hands' and then to 'three-quarter hands,' and finally to 'full hands.'"

The late Mr. Mundella objected to "hands" because the word indicated to him the disappearance of the old relationship between master and man. "We employ thousands. We do not know their faces. They are 'hands'—they are not men," Arnold Toynbee, social economist, delighted in the term because an employer now can buy only the workman's "hands." "His life" is now his own, to be cherished as a noble independence.

The London Daily Chronicle speaks of "hands" as a "Yankeeism." The term has been used by Englishmen from the middle of the seventeenth century.

200TH BIRTHDAY MODERN MASONRY TO BE NOTED HERE

Bismarck Members of Fraternity Visitors, Families and Friends Invited

Resident and visiting Masons, their families and friends are extended an invitation to join with Bismarck Lodge No. 5 in celebrating the 200th birthday of modern Masonry, at the Masonic temple Sunday afternoon.

An interesting program has been arranged, to begin at 3:30. Revs. W. J. Hutcheson and Bruce Jackson will be the principal speakers for the occasion. Their addresses will deal with the history and workings of present day Masonry. The capital city's most prominent artists will contribute musical numbers.

Masonry 200 Years Young.

Although the beginning of Masonry is traced to the building of King Solomon's temple, many centuries before the advent of Christ, modern Masonry as it is practiced in every civilized quarter of the globe had its beginning with the constitution of the first grand lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons in England, in the year 1717.

The ancient charges, as read at that meeting, and much of the romantic and mythical lore of the order will be introduced at the anniversary celebration Sunday, and attention will be given to the coordination of modern Masonry and Christianity.

Every subordinate and grand lodge in America is celebrating the anniversary, and in Bismarck the occasion is expected to prove one of the most interesting in the annals of capital city Masonry.

ROADS MUST DRAW UP RULES AFFECTING ALL GRAIN FOR EXPORT

Washington, June 21.—The practice of railroads in refusing to accept grain at interior points for export unless steamship arrangements for its transportation have been made for it in advance, was held today by the interstate commerce commission to be not inherently unreasonable or otherwise unlawful.

In proceedings filed by the Baltimore chamber of commerce, protesting against the practice, the commission found that while the railroad methods were to some extent justified by the car shortage, the practice unduly favors the person to whom permits are issued, "because the use made of the permit is not adequately policed and safeguarded."

"Should the permit practice be maintained," the decision reads, "the defendants (the railroads) should submit within fixed days for our approval rules which will eliminate the unlawful features of the present practice."

BASEBALL FOLLOWS FLAG

New York, June 21.—Baseball follows the American flag. Proof came when the New York correspondent of a London newspaper received orders to cable daily the scores of all the big league games.
